Increase the number of "Learn To" activities/sports. Introduction to Downhill Skiing, XC Skiing, kayaking, Mountain biking, golfing etc....to get the soldier-family member started in lifetime sports.....these activities, if offered off post are very expensive....Conducting water survival training for deploying units revealed the large number of soldiers that cannot swim.....Increase the learn to swim activities, you'll save a few soldiers.....

MWR is a highly professional team of employees who provide excellent service in every aspect of the word. The team provides a diversity of activities that are comprehensive and meets the needs of civilains, soldiers and their families. MWR plays a critical role in the life of this installation, and must be maintained. If not, the morale and well being of our employees are in jeopardy.

I think MWR could offer more child oriented activities for young children. Also I think the restaurants could do more to update their image and bring more people in. My family and I eat out a lot and having a quality restaurant on post would draw us several time a month.

Lastly I wanted to suggest a correction to your program. We live outside Fort Dix, but use McGuire AFB as much if not more than Dix, yet not one question was asked about that facility. By the way the AF does an outstanding job.

The only reason I utilize services off-post is do to the higher cost expected to be paid on post. If the services or items were provided at a lower rate to Soldiers on-post versus off-post, I would remain on-post and utilize services more.

MWR does well at Fort Dix. The only problem is that most Soldiers do not have their family members here, most Soldiers are not authorized off post nor are given the opportunity to participate in MWR fucntions. IE Mobilizing Soldiers live in the FOB most of their time at Fort Dix. MWR does an excellent job of offering as much as they can in the field (FOB). Demobilizing Soldiers are here about 6 days. There is not much time to attend events. MWR does its best for all Soliders. It can not please all Soldiers due to the Mobilization/Demoblization Process. Fort Dix has approximately 150 Soldiers that are Base OPS. About half live more than 1 hour away from base. For these Soldiers MWR is done at home more often, than on post. Overall, MWR does its best for the circumstances it has to work under.

MWR has always been an important part of military life for myself and my family however, this installation is sub standard in terms of quality of life for active duty permanent party personnel assigned here. Everything here is directly geared towards service members that are deploying and available services is few and far in between for those who are on active duty and are assigned her. I am dual military and when I arrived here my husband had deployed while I was in route and I was denied Housing because my spouse wasn't physically here. Yet they granted housing to the families of reservist who were scheduled to deploy.

Children don't use Youth and Teen Centers because they are in their 30s.
Most of the services and facilities appear to be OK, but as a civilian I have the time and the money to use off post facilities which usually offer me more of what I want. PLUS, they are away from the work environment.

The childrens youth activities are not well publicized and the sports director does not care about kids or parents concerns. Mr. Floyd is just a FIGURE HEAD GETTING PAID for what?
The parents are the coaches, the Fort Dix kids soiccer fields don't get mowed enough. There are many soccer tournaments on the weekends open to civilians who get to play on the well groomed fields while military kids get the unkept fields.

I appreciate the mwr facilities that are available and take advantage of the on-post activities more than off post.

Both my children refuse to go back to SAS and Youth Center anymore. In the past two years the fun has been taken out of the children's summer. If they are not "spring cleaning" they are watching TV. Complaints are given no adequate response. Then with the refusal of lunch to my youngest child because he "did not have a card" and he went hungry the whole day with no response other than, well, he should have complained more....Well, I just can't force them to return there. We will only use the SAS and Youth Center as a last resort, now.

I would like to see the outdoor pool open more during the summer.

Very important that Directors recognize and support MWR and its efforts to keep the entire Army Family including the civilians healthy both mentally and physically by promoting and emphasizing participation in the use of MWR facilities and MWR employee expertise. Its a win win scenario when physical and mental attitudes are in great shape. Good Attitude is a by-product of people feeling good about themselves and their Ft. Dix Community.

THE MWR PROGRAM AT FORT DIX IS GOOD HOWEVER I AM A FIRM BELIEVER THAT THE MWR PROGRAM SHOULD BE FOR ACTIVE/RETIRED MILITARY PERSONNEL AND THEIR FAMILIES.

I HAVE EXPERIENCED OVER THE YEARS THAT ONCE YOU GIVE CIVILIAN PERSONNEL WORKING ON AN INSTALLATION THE RUN OF THE POST (SORT OF SPEAKING) PROGRAMS TEND TO START DEVELOPING TOWARDS PLEASING THE CIVILIANS ON POST WHO HAVE SOME INFLUENCE OVER THOSE RESPONSIBLE FOR PUTTING MWR PROGRAMS TOGETHER.

The employees and managers of the facilities at Fort Dix do an outstanding and professional job taking care of Soldiers and their family members to include civilian (yes, even those retired Soldiers now working as civilians) personnel. The only shortfall and item of discouragement to me that effects my personal morale and that of fellow participants is at the Bowling Lanes. Management cannot obtain qualified personnel to maintain the existing bowling equipment. Wages are not close in comparison to that of off-post facilities. The lanes are constantly breakingt down. This causes many teams to want to leave our nice on-post facility and go outside even though the lane fees are more. Other than that, everything is just super here at Fortress Dix.

My husband is stationed at DSCP (Naval Support Activity) in Philadelphia. This is mostly a civilian facility with few military personnel. We are not included in receiving information about what is happening at Fort Dix and would very much like to be included. I do not know how MWR information is distributed, but including the military personnel at the Naval Support Activity would be wonderful and would help the families of these soldiers feel more a part of a military installation, instead of isolated. Thank you.
